Capt J L Austin, late master of the wh sh William Tell, furnishes the following statement in regard to the loss of that

The evening of July 12 being very foggy, with a strong wind from NNW, kept the vessel under close reefed topsails, with the head yards aback; supposed her to be 20 miles fm land. At 9 h 10 min P M she struck on a low sand beach in lat 66 N long 170 W; saw no land until about a ship's length off; for 12 hours tried every means to get her off, but without effect, not withstanding assistance was rendered by the Eliza Adams, Hibernia 2d and Speedwell; the vessel soon buried herself in the sand; she had 300 bbls oil on board, 150 bbls and 3000 b taken this season. About 270 bbls oil, all the bone, and a few other articles were saved.
